For Immediate Release

MINNEAPOLIS - Quality Tech Services, Inc. (QTS), a medical device packaging and assembly company has launched a new website (www.qtspackage.com).

With news and event updates and overviews of their capabilities serving the medical device industry, the new site offers a range of resources for visitors. The website supports the company's initiative to grow with their customers (which also included a move to a new 54,000 square foot facility last June with over 3,000 square feet of cleanrooms). In addition, the new website boasts a process page in which visitors can view the process a medical device goes through to reach the final packaging stage.

QTS specializes in Class 7 clean room assembly, packaging, and sterilization for medical devices. The company is privately-held and headquartered in Bloomington, MN. QTS is ISO certified to 13485: 2003 and FDA compliant. For more information please visit www.qtspackage.com.
